STRATEGIES ADOPTED BY INDIAN RETAILERS FOR SALES MAXIMISATION

Offering discounts

- Most retailers have advanced off-season sales from 15 days to a month with discounts of 20-70 per cent on certain products
- Higher discounts and other value-added services for members

Lowering prices

- Certain retailers adopt 'first price right' approach. Retailers do not offer discounts under this strategy: they directly compete on the selling price by offering a best price without any markdowns

Offering value-added services

- Companies offer innovative value-added services, such as customer loyalty programmes and happy hours on shopping deals
- Offers for senior citizens, contests for students, and lottery gains are now very common

Leveraging partnerships

- To keep customers on shop floors for a longer time and increase conversions, retailers are now pitching to partner with manufacturers, service providers, financial companies, etc. to create a buzz around certain product categories

Strong supply chain

- Critical components of supply chain planning applications help retailers to maintain profit margins
- Retailers develop innovative solutions for managing the supply chain problems
- Innovative solutions like performance management, frequent sales operation management, demand planning, inventory planning, production planning and lean systems can help retailers to get advantage over competitors

Competitive Rivalry

- Entry of foreign players in the market and e-retailers have intensified competition
- Customers' low switching cost increases competition
- The Indian retail sector is highly fragmented, which increases competition

Threat of New Entrants

- Entry as a retailer is quite simple. However, players need to establish strong distribution channels and achieve economies of scale to compete

Substitute Products

- Threat of substitute products is low. However, customers may purchase products from a local store instead of purchasing from a retailer

Bargaining Power of Suppliers

- Retailers have low switching costs, which make the supplier power low. Larger retailers can easily switch to different suppliers.

Bargaining Power of Customers

- The consumers are price sensitive, and have information about the product and its price
- Low switching cost gives customers high bargaining power

Omni-channel retailing

- Retailers are opting for many channel to maximise sales, provide convenience and for enhanced productivity. Omni-channel retailing is being adopted by many retailers in India. For example, Shoppers Stop is making efforts to be an omni-channel retailer. Ezone has launched an online platform, which has led to increase in sales

Changing the perception

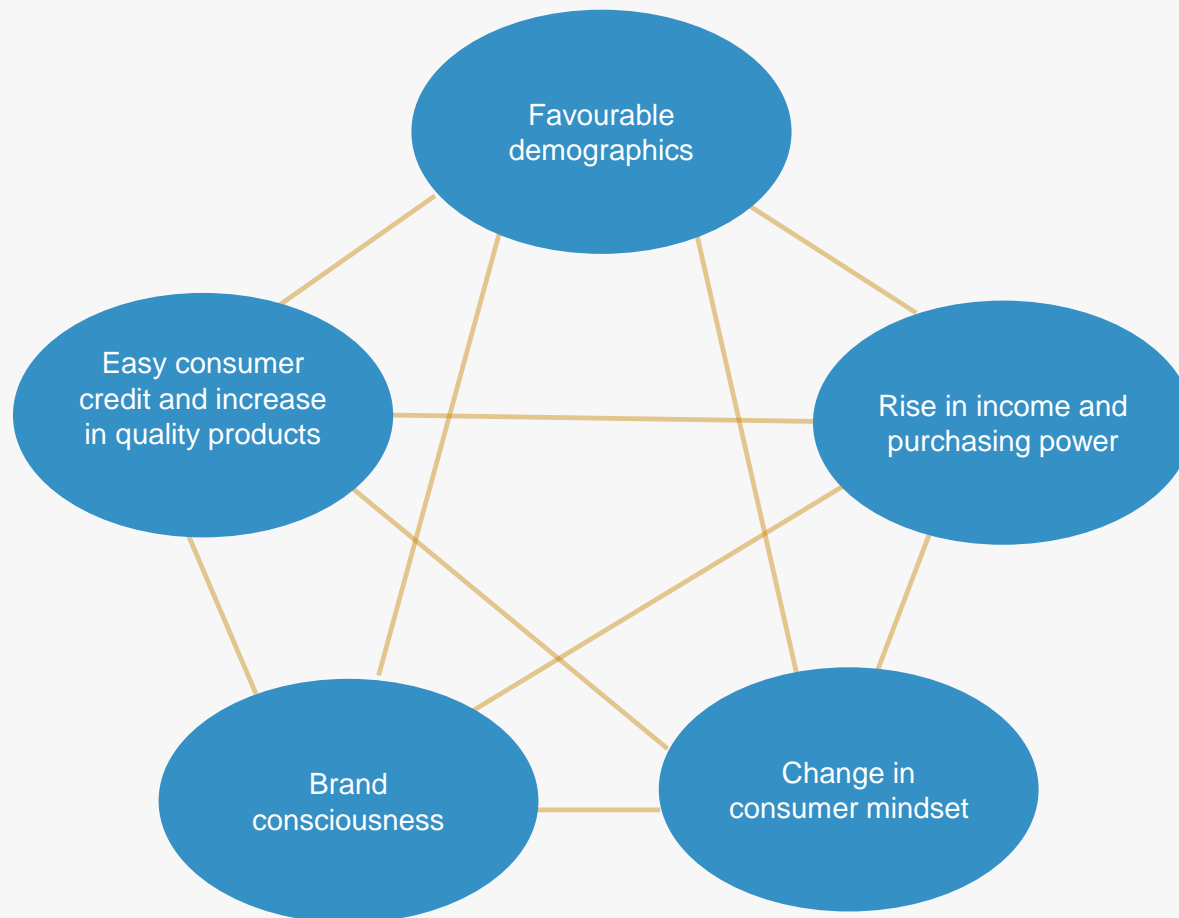

- Retailers benefit if consumers perceive their store brands to have consistent and comparable quality and availability in relation to branded products. For this, retailers are providing more assortments for private level brands to compete with supplier's brand. New product development, aggressive retail mix and everyday low pricing strategy help to get edge over supplier's brand
